

ABSTRACT

A molecular delivery complex specific to antigen-presenting cells is formed from a non-viral gene delivery system complexed with foreign genetic material. The complex then enters the targeted cells through a specific receptor and overcomes the degradation mechanism, so that functional uptake of the foreign genetic material, or transduction, of the cell, results in gene expression. The invention also includes a method for genetic immunization without a needle.

5

10
15
20
25
30
35
40
45
50
55
60
65
70
75
80
85
90
95
100